What do you love about Farmers Markets?

Are you a past volunteer? What have you done for us?

What's your availability on Sunday, September 23rd?

We'd like to get all the volunteers together for a fun little meet-and-greet between Sept 4-14th. Which day/time would be best for you?

Anything else you'd like us to know?

What's your number one position and why? What is your second choice? Position descriptions are below.

Set Up [3:00-5:00]:

Arrive before event and help with setting up venue and any final touches
--You're strong, know how to pop a tent, and good at making things look pretty.

Greeter [4:30 check-in]:

Meeting people at the door and welcoming them to the event
--You're SUPER friendly.

Parking Monitor [3:00 check-in]:

Directing farmers, chefs, and attendees to the correct places to park and helping with a smooth loading process
--You can give clear directions and keeps things moving.

Check-In [3:00 check-in]:

Checking in guests for the event
--You know your alphabet and have attention to detail.

Game Host [2:30 or 5:30 check-in]:

Monitoring the balloon and dart game and handing out prizes to winners
--You can get folks excited and upsell to get people to play more games.

Raffle Ticket Seller + Roving Donations [4:00 check-in]:

Selling tickets for the raffle during the event.
--You could sell rain to a Seattleite for a good cause, and you're slightly competitive.

Silent Auction Monitor [4:30 check-in]:

Answering questions at the silent auction and walking guests through bidding process.
--You know all about the goodies we have to offer and can help enforce the pens down policy when the auction closes.

Passed Appetizer Volunteers [4:00 check-in]:

Passing trays of appetizers before doors open for the feast.
--You have a bit of a service background and want to feed hungry people waiting to feast.

Take down [8-10pm]:

Breaking down after the event is finished
--You are also strong, maybe a night owl, and want to revel in the success of the night with drinks after we finish.
